

Our Corona Gardens

by Brod Bagert

Soon we'll have plenty of veggies,
so many we'll never run out,
'cause in neat little rows that we dug in the yard
the green stuff is starting to sprout.

Fresh lettuce and arugula!
(My daddy loves eating his greens.)
Hot habanero peppers!
Eggplants, tomatoes, and beans!

Though the rest of the world isn't working so well,
all the fun stuff we love has been banned,
out here in the world of our little back yard
our garden is growing as planned.

And soon we'll have plenty of veggies,
so many we'll never run out,
'cause in neat little rows that we dug in the yard
the green is beginning to sprout.
